

The scholarship, honestly.

Use this before you ask about the published scholarship. It gives you the standard fee, how the conditional RM5,000 LIFE Innoversity scholarship is actually assessed, and the prompts that make your eligibility conversation productive. It is not an approval form.

ANYTHING

Approved and endorsed by CMI (UK) against its Professional Standard. Eligibility is assessed, availability matters, and an award exists only once it is confirmed in writing.

Three numbers, no fine-print games.

RM10,000

STANDARD

The standard programme fee

Published, per participant, covering the full three-month programme: six training days across three live weekend sessions, the personal leadership diagnostic, coaching, learning system access, the applied project with faculty review, and the CMI-recognised programme certificate on completion of requirements.

RM5,000

SCHOLARSHIP

The LIFE Innoversity scholarship

Available to eligible Malaysian applicants, subject to availability, individual assessment and written approval. There is no published checklist to score yourself against — the assessment is a conversation with the programme team.

RM5,000

NET FEE

What an approved recipient pays

An approved scholarship recipient pays RM5,000.00, confirmed in a written fee schedule before any payment is made.

The scholarship is not: automatic for every Malaysian participant · a discount code or a guarantee · a replacement for a written fee schedule · an HRD Corp decision. Clear terms protect everyone — an award exists only when it has been confirmed in writing.

Four prompts that make the assessment productive.

Use these to organise the facts you want to discuss. They are prompts, not selection criteria — they do not score you and do not predict an outcome.

Prompt 1

GOAL

Your programme goal

What responsibility, business issue or management capability are you looking to strengthen — and why now?

Prompt 2

COHORT

Your intended cohort

Which published English or Mandarin cohort works with your commitments? The website carries the live calendar.

Prompt 3

FUNDING

Your funding route

Are you self-funding, seeking employer sponsorship, or asking your employer to explore HRD Corp funding? Employer funding may be available to eligible HRD Corp-registered employers, subject to HRD Corp approval and the approved amount — and it is a separate decision from the scholarship.

Prompt 4

CLARITY

Your open questions

What would you need clarified about programme fit, dates, the fee, scholarship conditions or the separate Chartered Manager route before deciding?

There is no fee to ask

Requesting information or an eligibility conversation costs nothing and commits you to nothing. If the scholarship matters to your decision, raise it first.

Raise it in one conversation.

The assessment is conversational, private and free. Choose whichever channel suits you.

ARRANGE A CONVERSATION

A short call or meeting with the programme team to discuss fit, dates, the fee and your scholarship assessment.

WHATSAPP FIRST

Message the programme team for quick questions before committing to a call.

This document is information, not an offer: it does not constitute an offer of admission, scholarship approval or a payment commitment. Scholarship awards are assessed individually and exist only when confirmed in writing. It is not an MQA-accredited academic degree or a regulated qualification. Chartered Manager is a separate optional CMI route with its own eligibility, assessment and fees. Published fees may be updated from time to time — the website always carries the live version. Personal data is processed under Malaysia's Personal Data Protection Act 2010 [Act 709], as amended.
